Professional Experience

Nanny

Pelham, New York

07/2019 – Present

It is my responsibility to oversee daily after-school pickup, homework help, pet care, and other activities for this family as needed. I started this position because I needed to work while pursuing my education in software development, and I continue to demonstrate strong organizational skills in this role.

- Entrusted with daily after-school pickup Monday-Friday
- Exercise patience to dictate homework and studying

- Use creativity to incorporate education and analytical thinking activities into playtime

Web & Graphic Designer Freelance

01/2018 - 01/2019

I created custom designs for digital & print clients during this time. I used Etsy and word of mouth to communicate with clients before building my custom domain. It was my responsibility to follow up with customers, stay on top of the schedule and produce creative content.

- Used graphic design skills to create custom t-shirts and apparel
- Managed inventory, sales, and customer requests in an online Etsy shop
- Designed custom print graphics for weddings

Lesser Evil Healthy Snacks; Danbury, CT Territory Sales Manager

12/2016 – 12/2017

Traveled the northeast territory to see clients, introduce products and pitch promotions to store buyers. My efforts increased sales and led to product placement in new stores. I accomplished this by following up with customers, performing in-store tasting events, sampling products, and analyzing data to guide sales decisions.

- Traveled to assigned territory to pitch products and network with grocery buyers
- Conducted product-tasting events for customers
- Analyzed sales data and behavior to guide sales and marketing decisions

Hobbies & Interests

Code Institute Hackathons Volunteer, Hackathon Team Member

12/2022 - Present

Meet with a team of volunteers and organize monthly hackathon challenges for Code Institute students. During the events, I am available on Slack to help teams learn version control and tackle coding problems.

- Volunteer time, creativity, and technical skills to organize monthly hackathon challenges for students
- Use leadership skills to introduce students to agile development practices and collaborative version control
- Use version control tools, including project boards and wikis, to manage programming sprints for teams

GitHub Copilot Technical Preview Community Beta Tester

07/2021 – 06/2022

As a tester, I monitored the GitHub Copilot AI extension during its technical preview phase. I contributed to this project's success by employing the extension locally, observing its behavior, and sharing my findings with Copilot developers.

- Tested AI behavior by using the extension during local development
- Documented bugs, prediction patterns, and unexpected behavior thoroughly
- Shared observations and bugs with the GitHub Copilot technical preview community
